

I have everything from the full read. Writing both documents now completely in clean plain text. This is going to be long — take your time reading through it.

DOCUMENT 1 — PRPD RECIPES

PRPD — RECIPES

KEY: Rice = 40g dry → 120g cooked. Recipes list RAW weights for shopping. Build steps show COOKED weights to plate. Tiers: Cut / Maintain / Build.

❄️ = Freezer OK (late-week meals, days 5-7) 🧊 = Fridge Only (early-week meals, days 1-4)

TOP REFERENCE BLOCK :

TIER SYSTEM — LEAN / BULK

Two tiers. Clients control their goal by how many meals they order, not portion size. LEAN = everyday (~54g protein/chicken meal, fat loss + maintenance). BULK = muscle gain, +$2/meal.

RAW → COOKED QUICK REFERENCE

Chicken thigh (standard) | Lean 225→169g | Bulk 330→248g

Chicken thigh (halal cart/sweet chili) | Lean 235→176g | Bulk 330→248g

Ground beef (drained/seekh) | Lean 210→154g | Bulk 300→219g

Ground beef (skillet) | Lean 225→164g | Bulk 290→212g

Beef (stew, top round) | Lean 235→172g | Bulk 320→234g

Bone-in drums edible | Lean 3 drums→215g | Bulk 4 drums→286g

Rice all tiers | 40g dry → 120g cooked

Potato (stew/roasted) | 200-220g raw all tiers

PRPD STANDARD COOK-DAY METHOD (component batching)

Cook components, not dishes. Every shared ingredient is cooked ONCE in its largest batch, then portioned across dishes. Two hard-separated phases:

PHASE A — COOK ALL COMPONENTS (no assembly):

- Oven runs continuously: egg bites first, then ALL roasted veg (every potato type + broccoli) in one load.
- ALL eggs cooked in one batch (burrito + quesadilla + power bowl + egg bites), portioned after.
- Chicken: two pans, seared back-to-back, portioned into per-dish bowls.
- Beef/hot pockets cooked and held. Steak/shrimp/tilapia seared LAST (don't hold well).
- Rice + boxed mac done.
Result: counter of cooked components, nothing assembled yet.

PHASE B — ASSEMBLY LINE:

- Line up all containers. Assemble by DISH type, not by client (all Chipotle in a row, etc.).
- Rice → protein → hot components → sauce cup → garnish → lid → label.
- No cooking in this phase. Pure assembly.

HARD RULE: Finish ALL cooking before ANY assembly. Context-switching between cooking and packing is the #1 time killer.

CHICKEN SEASONING RULE: Use ONE blanket seasoning (salt, pepper, garlic powder, paprika) on all chicken by default. Only season separately when the dish's identity comes from the chicken itself (e.g. Butter Chicken marinade, Chipotle, Shawarma). For sauce-carried dishes (BBQ, Buffalo), blanket-season the chicken and let the sauce define it. This lets you sear most chicken as ONE big batch instead of separate seasoned batches.

PROTEIN TIRAMISU CUP | $7 | 🧊 Fridge Only — MAKES 3 CUPS

Cottage cheese 250g · Fage 300g · Vanilla protein 1.5 scoops · Honey 3 tbsp · Vanilla extract 1.5 tsp · Ladyfingers 15-18 (5-6 per cup) · Strong coffee 180ml cooled (4 tsp instant dissolved in hot water) · Cocoa powder to dust

Steps:

1. Blend 250g cottage cheese ALONE for 60-90 sec until silky — zero lumps, zero grains
2. Add Fage + protein + honey + vanilla — fold by hand until smooth, do not over-blend
3. Taste cream before assembling — smooth, sweet, slightly tangy. If protein tastes off, leave it out and add 1 extra tbsp honey
4. Make coffee: dissolve 4 tsp instant in 180ml hot water, cool completely
5. Dip each ladyfinger 1-2 seconds only — quick in and out, do not soak
6. Layer correctly per cup: 5 ladyfingers on bottom → half the cream → 5 ladyfingers → remaining cream
7. Dust generously with cocoa powder on top
8. Chill minimum 3 hours — overnight is better

Per cup: 310 cal / 38g protein | Cost $3.20 | Profit $3.80 | Margin 54% | Shelf 4 days

⚠️ Blend cottage cheese alone first — non-negotiable. Ladyfingers only — Biscoff does not absorb coffee properly. Layer properly 5 per layer. FRIDGE ONLY — dairy sets up wrong when frozen.
